7:00 pm,
TUESDAY, JULY 9, 2019
260 GROVE STREET IN WALTHAM

Join us as we close out the 100th anniversary remembrance of the First World War. This lecture, led by Jack Valley, will cover the return to the United States and Waltham after 19 months at war. We will look at the homecoming activities of the men and women who served during those very difficult times.

We will also pay tribute to Mr. Brad Bigham, the man who made possible the materials used in the presentation. His efforts over many decades has left us with a treasure trove of history, providing a personal look at those who participated in the war, and those who celebrated and honored their service.

A question and answer period following the presentation will touch on the story of Brad and Mary Martha Bigham and their efforts to collect, preserve, and make materials available to us.

The lecture will begin at 7:00 PM and light refreshments will be available.
